

Elevating the human experience in Mobility

Relocation is never easy or simple. That's why we created Pivt, a social media and wellness app for mobile employees. Even the best managed moves often leave people in a place of social isolation, misplaced expectations, and unanswered questions. With Pivt, mobile employees now have a tool to make anywhere feel like home.

$90,000

the average amount a company spends relocating an employee

Workforce Mobility Association

33% +

of mobile employees leave their post early due to social reasons

Harvard Business Review

70%

of relocations fail due to the family not acclimating to their new home

The Impact Group

Before the Move

Learn what you need to know about where you are going before your move begins

Access to pre-move guides to make sure no essential details are left unsaid before decisions are made and the move begins

Receive information from local experts, communities, and recent transplants in the region, who can help you avoid common missteps

Frameworks and guides for difficult conversations, management of expectations during a move, goal setting, and ways to avoid loneliness during the transition

After the Move

Connect with other recent arrivals, people who live or lived in the immediate and surrounding areas, based on interests, when they moved, and more

Provide wellness guides and tools to ensure assignees have access to mental health and community resources

Access and share local guides for neighborhoods, school districts, essentials (healthcare, things to do, utilities, etc.), and more

Find time and space to begin enjoying their new home!

